The Section of Methods, Techniques and Research Tools of the Polish Political Science Association and the Department of Political Theory at the Faculty of Political Science and International Studies at Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń kindly invite to attend in the third edition of Winter Methodological Workshops held at February 8-9, 2018 in Toruń.

The event is addressed to all persons who would like to discuss and consult their research projects or already conducted studies with the leading Polish political scientists in terms of methodological correctness. The workshops include lectures on methodology and thematic workshop panels during which participants present and discuss their research projects with each other and, especially, with the experts. In addition, organizers provide separate time for individual consultations with the invited scholars. The working languages of the whole conference are Polish and English.

We invite especially the representatives of political science, international studies, security studies, media studies and related disciplines. Also, there will be a possibility to consult the research projects with the National Research Center's coordinator of social sciences panel and other NRC's experts. Thereby we encourage the future participants to submit any research proposals, including PhD thesis and any other scientific works.

Submissions consisting of technical data and a research project (according to the template in the last page) should be sent until January 2, 2018 to the workshops' secretary: bplotka.umk@gmail.com

Questions about the conference may be addressed also to the other workshops' secretaries: Michał Dahl, MA (dahl.michal@gmail.com) and Maria Lewandowska, MA (maria-lewandowska@o2.pl).

If there is a possibility, we ask for the attachment of the confirmation that a conference fee was paid.
